u003ciu003eSenescence Signalling and Control in Plantsu003c/iu003e discusses the studies showing the importance of hormone action on developmental senescence. It shows the involvement of various signaling components (such asu0026#xa0;u003ciu003eEIN2, LOX2u003c/iu003e) and transcription factors (such asu0026#xa0;oresara1 or ORE1) in controlling hormonal activity during senescence. Further, the involvement of various micro RNAs (u003ciu003emiR164, miR319u003c/iu003e) in regulating leaf senescence are discussed. Through this book, the authors throw light on all the reverse and forward genetic approaches to reveal the role of various other phytohormones regulating plant senescence and the molecular mechanisms involved.u003cbr /u003eu003cbr /u003eChapters on relevant topics are contributed by experts working in the area, making this a comprehensive treatise designed to provide an in-depth analysis on the subject matter.u003cbr /u003eThrows light on the involvement of hormones (other than the well- known hormones cytokine and ethylene) in plant senescenceShows the underlying mechanisms on the hormonal actions during senescenceExhibits the involvement of microRNAs during this important plant developmental process
